

ATLANTIC CITY ORGIES RIVAL BABYLON

WHITEN SKINS, BLACKEN SOULS, ON BOARDWALK

Deauville's beach has nothing on certain second floors at Atlantic City, according to Will A. Whalen (white) writing for "Home Brew," a Broadway periodical. According to Mr. Whalen, multitudes go to Atlantic City to whiten their skins, but blacken their souls instead.

So vehement is the writer in his denunciation of some of the orgies that certain portions of the article are deemed improper for publication. The article, with certain portions deleted, runs as follows:

Beach Horrors
Everybody goes to Atlantic City, but everybody doesn't know everything that's pulled off there. We refer modestly to the fully unclothed dancers who disport themselves in upper second story rooms before tired business men, who run off to Atlantic City to strengthen their nerves. No, I didn't write nerve.

Little Egypt and Salome hide their diminished notoriety before Atlantic City caviors and shudder respectively in their strings of beads and tattered veils.

When colored gentlemen tries anything in the South or in Coatesville, which is somewhere on the map of Pennsylvania, we promptly froth like mad dogs and capture a darkey, right party or wrong party, humiliate him in a slow fire, like an owl, and though we're a hundred to one, we inflame our valiant chests, like Tarzan of the Apes—because we have made monkeys of ourselves. Our darker brother, taking pains from us in Atlantic City, can't understand why sensuality in him is a lynchable sin, while in us whites, sex license is a Mohammedan virtue. We've heard unnumbered volumes of wrongs of white women at the hands of black bucks, but there's a great Uncle Tom's cabin, seldom opened, which could give David and Bathsheba wrongs done to colored girls by white men.

Go Upstairs
And so many of these crimes happen at the popular bathing city. Multitudes go there to clean their hides, but blacken their souls. Atlantic City may look all right on the ground floor, but go a flight higher, and that's another story.
But all the waters of Atlantic City can't whiten a black skin and sweeten a fleshy sin that mixes at least two races. At night all cats are gray. At Atlantic City even black sins are painted white. Chocolate drops are called salt water taffy.
I'd vote the whole thing off color.

U. OF CHICAGO PRESS ISSUES TWO BOOKS

Two new books, one on race relations and the other on journalism, have just been issued by the University of Chicago Press. The study on race relations is entitled "The Negro in Chicago," compiled by the Chicago Commission on Race Relations. It is a report of Gov. Lowden's commission appointed to investigate the race riot of 1919.
The other book, entitled "The Negro Press in America," written by Frederick G. Detweiler, is a comprehensive study of the leading newspapers and periodicals of the race.

WHITE GIRL IS BARRED FROM U. S. AS AFRICAN

NEW YORK CITY, Sept. 16.—An interesting case which will be used to test one of the new immigration regulations has arisen at Ellis Island in the barring of Phyllis K. Hoskins, a young white girl, from entry to this country.
The Hoskins girl arrived on the Central Mail Steamer Orbita, several days ago. She was born in Africa, although her mother and father, who are naturalized Americans, were born in England. According to immigration regulations, she was listed as "African," and held at Ellis Island for deportation. The ruling upon which the girl is barred is a clause in the Dillingham Act, which reads: "Place of birth shall determine nationality." The ruling clearly makes the girl an African. The African quota for the present season has been exceeded.

K. P.'s Willing To Overlook Shortage

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 16.—Reaffirming confidence in John Mitchell, Jr., president of the Mechanics Savings Bank, who is also Grand Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, the endowment department sent a committee to the Commonwealth attorney last week, asking that further proceedings against Mr. Mitchell, as far as this organization was concerned, be dropped, according to a dispatch to the Baltimore Afro-American.

Pythians $28,000 Short
Mr. Mitchell, president of the Mechanics Savings Bank, and other officers were arrested last week charged with $150,000 shortage. The bank is in the hands of the receivers. Pythian money involved is said to be $28,000.

The resolution in part reads:
"For more than twenty years, the money of the grand lodge Knights of Pythias, sent to the Grand Chancellor, has passed through the personal account of John Mitchell, Jr., our present Grand Chancellor. Sometimes the personal account was in debt to the grand lodge and sometimes the grand lodge was in debt to the personal account. Despite the increase in membership from five hundred to ten thousand, no additional office force in keeping with such an increase has been provided, and for more than twenty years, the private business office of John Mitchell, Jr., has been utilized for office and storage without any compensation whatsoever salary has not been increased for fifteen years or more."

MORE WORK NOW OPEN, SAYS URBAN LEAGUE

For the first time in a good number of months, work is seeking the woman at the Chicago-Urban League. There are positions for house work, heading and embroidery and hotel, for which the industrial department was unable to furnish workers. There are still openings in these lines of work and any women who are interested would do well to drop around to the Urban League office and find out whether they could not get a chance. It is absolutely free.

Any man that kisses another man certainly has a peculiar taste, to say the least.

PUBLICATION GIVES DATA ON KLUX PLOTS

Charges that the Ku Klux Klan will oppose Catholic, Jewish, non-whites, foreign-born and other candidates not in sympathy with their brand of "Americanism" in the coming elections here are made in the first issue of "Tolerance," official journal of the American Unity League, which makes its first appearance Saturday.

The paper publishes a secret report of conditions in the Atlanta headquarters of the Klan made by a Tennessee clansman to his superior officer, in which graft, misconduct, and financial irregularities are charged.

Names Officers
The names of all Klansmen in Chicago, the names of their officers, the location of their meeting places, and other intimate revelations concerning the activities of the organization here are to be revealed in a series of articles which will be published from week to week, according to an announcement in the first issue.

The new publication is to be distributed weekly throughout the United States. It will be sold on the streets and at newsstands each Saturday afternoon and in front of churches and synagogues on Sunday.

An article by Dr. Sherwood Eddy, distinguished Protestant publicist, who has just completed a study of Ku Klux activities in the South from the "Christian Century," a leading religious journal, is one of the features of the paper.

Will Unveil Plots
Striking cartoons, feature articles, and news reports from throughout the country make up a twelve-page folio publication, which its supporters say will ultimately succeed in unveiling the Ku Klux Klan.

The American Unity League, which is sponsoring the publication, was organized some months ago by leaders in the several racial and religious groups persecuted by the Klan, and by outstanding Protestants who see the Ku Klux as a national menace.

The late Bishop Fulton was chairman of the league until the illness, which caused his death, forced him to resign. Patrick H. O'Donnell is acting chairman of the league's directorate.

"We feel that the publication of the names of those who belong to the Klan will be a blow that the masked organization cannot survive," says Mr. O'Donnell. "Many Klansmen who are in business, or the professions, are dependent largely upon the patronage of those groups whom they classify as 'aliens.' We feel that it is only just that their attitude be made public."

Big Men at Head
Among the members of the directorate of the league are: Robert E. Shepherd, treasurer; G. K. Rutledge, secretary; Hon. Thomas E. Campbell, governor of Arizona; Hon. Ernest D. Boyle, governor of Nevada; Hon. M. C. McChesney, governor of New Mexico; Rt. Rev. Monsignor J. F. Noll, editor of our Sunday visitor; Callistus S. Ennis, Hon. Robert M. Sweitzer, Dr. Tobias Schanfarber, Rabbi Leon Fram, Dr. S. M. Melamed, editor East and West; Thomas F. McDonald, high secretary; Catholic Order of Foresters; Rabbi Abraham Hirschberg, Hon. Patrick J. Carr, Dr. Joseph Stolz, D. S. Komiss.

MOB VS MOB; ROPE PARTY IS FOILED

ELLCOTT CITY, Md., Sept. 16.—While the Senate was marking time on an anti-lynch bill in Washington, a mob of whites was busily preparing to lynch a man a few miles away in Ellicott City, Md., Thursday night. The man was Lawrence Wallace, a farmer, lodged in the county jail on a charge of shooting and wounding Chief of Police Julius Wosch, white.

An armed mob of whites was first on the scene with a long rope. Shortly afterward an armed party of men who were not white appeared on the scene. They are said to have been determined to prevent a lynching.

Police Get Busy
Authorities, scenting trouble, wired to Baltimore for reinforcements. They feared a race riot, they said. Detectives from Baltimore appeared and succeeded in spiriting the prisoner out of jail at midnight.

Wallace was wanted on a charge of stealing a watch from a storekeeper near Columbia. The policeman went to arrest him and received a wound in the thigh.

DIES OF FRIGHT AS CROWD CRIES FOR LYNCH LAW

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 16.—After Jasper Bryant, a waiter, had been chased four blocks Monday by a crowd yelling "lynch him," he fell to the pavement, dying a few minutes later in the Atlantic City Hospital. His collapse, according to physicians, was due to fright.

HOLD MEN FOR ASSAULT
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 15.—Sam Sale, Sam Gillespie, and George Brown are being held in the County Jail after nearly beating Robert Lewis to death with pieces of scuffling. Lewis is still unconscious in the hospital.

USED WARTIME ALARMS TO GUARD BOOZE

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 16.—During the World War soldiers in the front line trenches on the Western Front tied tin cans to the barbed wire entanglements just in front of the trenches. When German patrols came in contact with the wires, the tin cans rattled and the alarm was given.

Clarence Davis and Robert Nelson probably got their plan to protect their still from the tin can rattles in France. Prohibition officers who raided the moonshiners found the place surrounded with ropes and wires from which tin cans were hanging. They stepped over wires and arrested the distillers.

Bring Bomb In Coal To Black Swan

NEW YORK CITY, Sept. 16.—Considerable excitement was caused Saturday in the manufacturing district of New York by the finding of a bomb in the coal delivered to the manufacturing plant of the Pace Phonograph Corporation, makers of Black Swan records at Meadow and Creek streets, Long Island City. The bomb was of the shrapnel type, heavily loaded and capped and capable of blowing up the entire plant. The fireman discovered the bomb after it was in his shovel and just as he was about to plunge it into the furnace. A moment later and there would have been an explosion that would have wrecked the boilers and damaged the plant, probably killing or injuring some of the twenty-five employees working there.

Investigation was made by the bomb squad of the police department and the fire department. Just where the bomb came from could not be ascertained, as the Pace Company uses nearly thirty tons of coal a month and deliveries from two coal companies are being made almost daily, and each had just delivered several tons of coal. It is presumed that the bomb was put into the coal by someone connected with the coal miners strike. The officials of the company were alarmed at first, lest it were the work of competitors, who were seeking to destroy their business in Black Swan records, the sale of which has so seriously interfered with other phonograph records made by white companies. The Daily News carried a picture of the bomb, which was of an unusually large size.

RESCUE VETERAN FROM SENEGAL; WAS VICTIM OF ROBBERS

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 16.—Jean Feraud, 22 years old, a member of the Third Regiment of Tirailleurs Senegalais, was robbed of his clothes and passport last week at New Orleans. He was told that he could get work and plenty of money in Chicago and came here, where his story was told. Feraud could speak very little English, but through friends at the Urban League and the French Consul, it was learned that he was working on a steam line running out from Marseilles, France, to Pensacola, Fla., and was left stranded at Pensacola, from where he went to New Orleans, was robbed and finally made his way to Chicago. Through the good offices of the Urban League, Feraud was found a lodging place, given a job, and the French Consul is making an effort to get his passport papers straightened out.

Make The Southside What It Ought To Be

The Property Owners and Business Men on State Street, between 30th and 35th Street, have spent $18,000.00 to put electric lights and post on the sidewalk.

Every store keeper has not come in on the plan to make State Street brighter, cleaner and safer at night. The names of these will be published later.

State Street merchants are planning to give the Southsiders better goods at cheaper prices and are prepared to guarantee Standard Brands and Standard Lines of Goods against cheap and poor imitations and poor products.

WHAT EVERY PURCHASER CAN DO

Read the Advertisements which will appear later in this Publication of Merchants who belong to the South Side Street Commercial Association.

Patronize them and insist on the best of merchandise and the best of service.

Get acquainted with the business men of the neighborhood. Put in a boost and quit the knocking where it is not necessary.
